

A COLLECTION of paintings by young Durban artist Sharlene Khan is on display at the Kwa Muhle Museum to celebrate Workers' Day. The collection, titled 'Durban at Work', depicts life and work in the streets of the city and reflects the energy and challenge of street trade. Above and top left are two of the paintings from the collection.

Mercury Reporter. 'Worker's Day'
Durban: The Mercury, 1 May 2001, p. 4